

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder, and the generation. This mid-century home represented innovation in the design and construction of its time; today it has been re-imagined using current trends in architecture and conservation.

The home's interior was featured in the January, 2020 issue of this publication. It was designed for a young family looking for the right location more than the "perfect home".

Whatever you envision, Delta Renovations can create. Utilizing high quality products, expert craftsmanship and sound design practices ensures cherished memories for many years to come.
